

It's not too late - sign up for free Evergreen Safety Council membership!

By Maria Orozco

WCIA has partnered with Evergreen Safety Council (ESC) to provide one year free membership (March 2018 – February 2019) offering access to training and education services. WCIA members can still sign up to enjoy the membership benefits through February 2019.

Why are WCIA members eligible for this offer?

WCIA and ESC share a mutual desire to help members reduce risk and encourage good risk management practices through training and education. In fact, previous collaborations have resulted in programs such as regional sessions of Global Hazard Communications trainings, a joint presentation at the Washington State Traffic Safety Commission Annual Conference, and currently Defensive Driving and Flagger Certification programs.

What is Evergreen Safety Council (ESC)?

ESC is a private, non-profit organization offering training and consultation programs to help members meet safety and health education best practices as well as federal and state requirements. This membership will entitle members to the following benefits:

- Free use of ESC online safety video library with over 600 titles
- Discounts on ESC training courses, consultative services, and educational materials
- Free digital safety magazine and newsletter subscriptions

How do you access the free membership available to your organization?

- For questions about ESC's services or accessing your organization's account through ESC, contact ESC directly: Christine Exline at 425-814-3868 or by email christine@esc.org.
- For questions regarding WCIA's support of this program, contact WCIA Member Services at membeservices@wciapool.org.
