By Robin Aronson

As we embark on the 2022 WCIA Grant Program, a look back on a few 2021 grant projects takes us out across the State, first to the City of Port Townsend where missing and rusted fence posts around a skatepark were remedied, helping to protect both the users of the skate park and neighboring areas.

Heading to the City of Chehalis, grant dollars were used at Penny Playground to install concrete benches and bollards to protect playground users against wayward vehicles.

And finally, heading on over to the City of Puyallup where a “Big Sidewalk Sucker,” complete with vacuum and picker, was purchased to assist public works staff in lifting concrete panels to fix raised and broken sidewalk panels.

WCIA was pleased to be able to provide these members and others with grants in 2021 to assist with some of the costs associated with various risk mitigation projects. Watch your email for information on the 2022 WCIA Grant Program!
